CALL FOR MANUSCRIPTS

Scientific International Journal™ (SIJ) is an open access, indexed, professional, multidisciplinary, bilingual, international and blind- and peer-reviewed journal. The mission of the journal is to encourage critical analysis and reflection to internationally promote the generation of new knowledge and the development of acquired knowledge, as well as its communication and integration in the diverse fields of practice in a global context. SIJ promotes the importance of research and the publication of its findings. It publishes original manuscripts and it serves as a forum for the dissemination of information about relevant issues on the areas of health, education, social sciences, humanities, evaluation of programs and services, and public policy, among others. SIJ's audience is constituted by professionals in the areas of health, education, social sciences, humanities, and related areas. SIJ encourages professionals from these areas, new authors, and graduate students to submit manuscripts.

Open and Free Access Policy

It is SIJ's policy to share knowledge and to promote excellence in the professional
