CALL FOR MANUSCRIPTS

Scientific International Journal™ (SIJ) is an electronic, professional, interdisciplinary, bilingual, and international journal. SIJ promotes the importance of research and the publication of its findings. It is a forum for the dissemination of information about relevant issues on the areas of planning, management, administration, and evaluation of programs and services. SIJ is committed to encourage critical analysis and reflection and to promote quality and excellence in the processes and activities carried out in the delivery of programs and services. Its audience is constituted by planners, managers, supervisors, administrators, evaluators, as well as graduate students, community leaders, and non-profit and for-profit organizations' personnel. It is an official publication of Non-Profit Evaluation & Resource Center, Inc., published three times a year, blind- and peer-reviewed and manuscript submissions are accepted by e-mail (sij@nperci.org).

SIJ is interested in manuscripts including, but not limited to, the following topics:

- Standards of Excellence
- Planning
- Health promotion
- Prevention and early intervention strategies
- Community empowerment
- Needs and/or issues related to children, adolescents, adults, and seniors
- Program evaluation
- Effective instruction and learning strategies
- Barriers in service delivery
- Quality and effectiveness of programs and services
- Issues regarding health and mental health
- Educational research
- Institutional research
- Management and administration
- Public policy

SIJ encourages all planning, management, administration, and evaluation of programs and services professionals, new authors, and graduate students to submit manuscripts. The Instructions for Authors are available at www.nperci.org.
